Please refer to page three.

In the first quarter of the period ending May 2021, sales increased 7.6% from the previous year to JPY224.6 billion, and operating margin increased 20.1% from the previous year to JPY15.1 billion.

Despite negative factors such as the disappearance of inbound demand and sluggish sales of seasonal products, increased demand related to the coronavirus has continued since the end of the previous quarter, resulting in a significant boost to sales. We also recognize that we have been able to control selling, general and administrative expenses well.

Major topics are described in the following section. In the second half, Murakami will explain.

Please refer to page four. Consolidated financial results for the first quarter of the fiscal year under review are detailed in the table above.

Existing stores sales increased 0.3% more than assumption for the full fiscal year and increased 0.4% more than assumption for the first half.

All of these assumptions did not incorporate an increase in demand for related products due to uncertainty about the outlook for the spread of coronavirus infections at the time the budget was formulated. However, actual progress exceeded expectations due to the continuing increase in demand.

We will explain gross profit and SG&A expenses later on a separate page.

Next, the graph on page six shows the 15-month trend in comparable store sales.

Special factors such as the consumption tax hike in October of last year, and the coronavirus at the beginning of this year continued. In the first quarter of FY5/21, there was no significant increase or decrease, but the level remained high due to the impact of the coronavirus.

The number of customers has stabilized in July and August, but average spend per customer has been growing due to such factors as demand for staying at home (Sugomori).

Also, in terms of the unit price of products and the number of items purchased, the plastic shopping bags have been charged since July 1. The price of plastic shopping bags is recorded as product sales, so a decline in the unit price of goods and an increase in the number of items purchased are seen in the numbers.

The impact on average customer spend is immaterial.

An overview of sales by region and company is provided on page eight.

Looking at sales by region, the decrease in inbound demand has had a major impact in Chubu and Kansai regions, mainly stores in the Chubu and Kansai regions of Tsuruha Drug.

By company, comparable store sales at Kusuri no Fukutaro, which has many stores located in central Tokyo and in office districts, fell below YoY.

Regarding TGN (Tsuruha Group Drug & Pharmacy Nishinohon Inc.) and Lady Drugstore, there are major sales promotion measures in July and August every year, but this fiscal year we took a longer period than usual to take into account the risk of infections and implemented coupon and point measures.

As a result, this has a positive impact on net sales.

By product category, both sales and gross profit margin grew significantly in miscellaneous daily necessities and other categories due to the impact of the coronavirus. Other items include masks and hand sanitizers for medical products. Daily necessities also include wet tissue and hand soaps, as well as some of the hand sanitizers.

On the other hand, sales of OTC pharmaceuticals fell below YoY due to a decline in inbound demand and sluggish sales of cold medicine and nutritional supplement drinks. Cosmetics also continued to struggle, particularly for price-maintained merchandise. However, for certain brands, the sales keep a single-digit decline and the gross profit margin increases. The gross profit margin for the entire product rose 0.4%.

The graph is shown at the lower right. Since March, the number of prescriptions has been decreasing and the unit price has been rising. Through August, the rate of increase in unit prices has gradually been small, and the situation has stabilized. The number of prescriptions fluctuates slightly from month to month due to the effects of the weekdays and holidays, but the extent of the negative is gradually decreasing.

In addition, the gross profit margin was positive 0.3%, and the impact of the revision in April was relatively minor. In addition, there are factors such as receiving technical fee by promoting the use of generics. The result was a positive 0.3%.

For the PB as a whole, net sales increased 9.7% and the composition ratio was positive 0.1 % YoY. Gross profit margin was negative for each PB category. However, since the gross profit margin is 44% and the overall PB, we recognize that it contributes to the gross profit margin of the entire product. This is a factor behind the decline in the gross profit margin.

First of all, the cost of PB masks has risen very sharply recently. As a result, the gross profit margin is declining. In addition, sluggish sales of pharmaceuticals and seasonal products were also affected.

In particular, products such as nutritious drinks, Ezooace and sunscreen, Orezo-White products, which are included in proprietary products and products limited to companies, are extremely mainstay in the form of priority products. However, these products have fallen below YoY due to seasonal factors.

The ratio of SG&A expenses to net sales improved 0.4%. It has been completed at 22.2%. I have listed four items. Although the amount is not that large, the growth in sales promotion expenses is large. This is mainly expenses related to the provision for point card certificates. Due to changes in sales promotion measures, the balance of unused points as of August 15 -- the end of the first quarter -- temporarily increased. The effect of this is being shown as an expense. This is expected to be eliminated from the second quarter onward by customers' using points and we consider this to be a temporary factor.

This is the end of an explanation of our business performance.

Additionally, for the summary of the balance sheet described in the supplementary material on financial results, et cetera, the balance as of May 31 -- the end of the first quarter -- of JR Kyushu Drug Eleven Co., Ltd. is included. Also, we close on the 15th of the month and August 15th will be the end of the first quarter, but this is Saturday. There are a number of accounts that are affected by holidays at financial institutions, so please keep this in mind in this regard.

That is all from me in the first half. Following this, Murakami will explain.

Murakami: Now, let me explain the initiatives and policies for the fiscal year under review from Murakami. See page 14 in the next section.

First, the figures are the results forecast for the current fiscal year, which was explained at the financial results briefing on June 22, and the details will be omitted because they are unchanged. Among the assumptions listed on the left-hand side of the lower column, inbound tourism sales are almost zero as expected.

On the other hand, demand for coronavirus-related products, including staying home demand, was strong, and this was a factor that pushed up earnings.

There is no change in the plan for store openings as well. Therefore, I will omit the detailed explanation.

The number of pharmacies is expected to be 2,233 at the end of the fiscal year. As explained earlier by Yamazaki, with the addition of Drug Eleven, the number of pharmacies is expected to be 2,436, including 203 pharmacies.

First, in regard to making Drug Eleven a subsidiary, please refer to page 17.

We have been proceeding with integration work at the practical level with Drug Eleven, which joined the Group on May 28, in order to realize synergies at an early stage.

Specifically, we plan to start joint purchasing on September 16 this week, which we believe will allow us to achieve certain cost reductions. In addition, we have also prepared roadmaps for the Dispensing, Store Development, Systems, and Administrative Divisions, and are promoting PMI.

The bottom table shows Drug Eleven's store area and product mix. This is a comparison with other operating companies for your reference.

Please go to the next page. It is about utilizing smartphone apps and digital promotion.

We are currently vigorously promoting the download of our own apps, which will serve as the cornerstone of this effort. As a goal for the end of this fiscal year, we are currently setting a goal of downloading the app to 4 million of our approximately 11 million active members. Currently, we have about 1.3 million members downloading it. Progress is largely in line with the plan. At the end of the term, we hope to achieve our goal of 4 million people.

First, we have decided to quickly create a situation in which customers can utilize this app by downloading it as a point of contact with customers. At the same time, we will build a system that enables us to achieve highly accurate marketing that meets the needs of individual customers. We are promoting efforts to achieve results in the following fiscal year and beyond.

Please refer to page 19. Handling of meat and fruits and vegetables.

We are expanding the number of stores handling meat and fruit and vegetables. As shown in the materials, there were 360 stores at the end of the previous fiscal year, but in the first quarter we added 92 stores, bringing the total to 452. We are targeting a network of 630 stores by the end of this fiscal year.

Due in part to the impact of coronavirus, the need for one-stop shopping by customers has risen, contributing to sales growth at stores where the system has been introduced.

Next, I would like to discuss the expansion of our private brand, "Kurashi Rhythm". As you can see, the number of SKUs is almost as planned. In addition, we are implementing a replacement with the former brand M's one. We will continue to strengthen product development to satisfy our customers.

Finally, the progress of the shift preparation support system, which has been introduced as a mechanism for optimizing personnel expenses. Currently, the system has already been introduced at all OTC stores of TSURUHA HOLDINGS INC.

Currently, we are conducting study meetings and optimizing operations while listening to the opinions of the frontline. We have begun to achieve certain results, such as optimizing overtime and managing the working hours of part-time employees. On September 16, we plan to begin introducing the system to dispensing pharmacies of TSURUHA HOLDINGS INC. as well and intend to expand it to other operating companies at the end of this fiscal year.

The next page is the target of the medium-term management plan, but there are no changes to this, so it will be omitted.

As a topic, we are charging for the plastic bags shown in the middle row on the right side of the material. As you have already known, the system started on July 1, 2020. We will donate the entire amount of revenue generated by charging for plastic bags. Donations to UNICEF and Japanese Red Cross Society are envisaged.

That's all for the financial results briefing. Thank you very much for your attention.
